

India Missions Association

announces the conduct of a series of regional conclave of youth leaders for prayer and consultation for acceleration of youth outreach ministry under the theme:

“the future is now”
preparing the GenNex leaders of the nation today

The India Missions Association is initiating a conversation with churches and mission agencies by hosting a series of consultations across India, with the purpose to better understand the mindset and behavior of the post-modern youth, and to chalk out strategies to collaboratively engage with the youth in general and the urban youth in particular.

This task become pertinent because of the fact that 75% of India's population is below 35 years of age, with 54% below 25 years. Very soon these “youth” will be the decision makers and the influencers of this great nations. In fact, some of them are already in position of leadership and authority.

Another point for consideration is the fact that the share of Christian youth is only 0.8% (9.3 million) or 2.2% of the youth in India.

The first Conclave for such consultation will be held for the North East Churches and Missions, and hosted by the Council of the Baptist Churches in North East India:
